

Ruth Cotter
Director, Investor Relations
Advanced Micro Devices

Ruth Cotter is the director of investor relations at Advanced Micro Devices (NYSE: AMD). Her responsibilities include leading AMD's global relationships with shareholders and analysts. AMD is a leading global provider of innovative processing solutions in the computing, graphics and consumer electronics markets.

Ruth has 12 years of IR experience. Prior to joining AMD, Ruth's expertise spanned several years at CRH plc, one of the worlds largest building materials groups listed on the Irish, London and New York stock exchanges. Following that, she spent a number of years at Trintech Group plc, co-headquartered in Ireland and the USA. A leading provider of transaction risk management solutions listed on Nasdaq. In addition, Ruth has public relations experience within the public, banking and consumer industries.

Ruth holds a bachelor's degree in Economics and History from University College Cork, Ireland.